

PRINCE OF WALES A GOOD OXFORD STUDENT

TOOK TROUBLE TO AVOID ANY DISTURBANCE FROM OTHERS

IN FOR THE ATHLETICS

WALTER SHORT, a Prince of Wales, was in the city last night.

The Prince of Wales, who is a student at Oxford, was in the city last night. He was seen at the city hall, where he was attending to some business. He was accompanied by a large party of friends, and they were all seen to enter the city hall. The Prince was seen to be in good health and spirits, and he was seen to be very popular with the people.

Peruna Will Stop That Cough

"I have found Peruna to be an Excellent Tonic."

Mrs. Perry, of 119 18th Avenue N. E., Minneapolis, Minn., is the wife of Commander Freeman G. Perry and well known in G. A. R. and society circles. She is the author of "Minnesota Living Water." She says: "I have tried Peruna and found it an excellent tonic and cure for catarrh of the stomach, and all diseases leading to consumption. Also for bronchial troubles. I believe it to be one of the best medicines on the market. Thousands can testify to its cure with the same pleasure that I can."

I Had the Grip. Mr. C. H. Harty, Harty, Ray Co., Mo., writes: "I can safely recommend Peruna as a remedy that will cure all catarrhal troubles. It was of great benefit to me as it cured me of catarrh of the throat, and I was a very bad cold and had a very bad cough. I took three bottles of Peruna, and it cured me. I highly recommend it to all who are as ill and I am glad to add my endorsement to that of others."

Another Case of Grip. Mrs. Jane Giff, R. P. D. 1, Athens, Ohio, writes: "I think I would have been dead long ago if it had not been for Peruna. Six years ago I had a grippe very bad. The doctor came to see me every day, but I gradually grew worse. I told my husband I thought I would surely die if I did not get relief soon. I told my husband I wanted to try Peruna. He went directly to the drug store and got a bottle of Peruna. I could see the improvement in a very short time, and was soon able to do any work. I continued using it until I was entirely cured."

yellow sand-pile of the slumber coast was split off from the main island by a violent disturbance in 1716. The main island is a high table of rock in the higher points rising some about two hundred feet from the water about a mile from tip to tip on its roughly triangular surface, and a little more than a third of a mile wide at the widest points. The stormy winter seas have fretted its exposed coast in a wealth of caves and craggy pillars and pinnacles of rock.

Much of the island is forbidden to the tourist. The impulsive stranger is not encouraged to roam at will nor to photograph whatever might strike his fancy. For the rest, it is a strategic point, its surface is studded with turret fortifications, hidden gun pits, and upon one part of the island there is an important Zeppelin station. Near its westernmost point is a sandy cove in the rock upon which the lower town is constructed and where Heligoland's steamer pier, in this snubbling port is where the native fish folk huddle through the latter stormy gray cloud-coming North sea winter. Almost continual blackbirds, chop, chop, and churn these waters during the winter time.

As small as the island is, it yet offers the visitor a choice of several hotels, theatre entertainment and the advantages of a Kurhaus together with those of sundry cafes.

Economy on the Battlefield. One of the interesting things about the French in this war is their wonderful economy. An officer one day took me to a great military depot to show me the gathered spoils from the battlefield near Rheims. There were heaps of German knapsacks made from good leather with the hair of the animal on the outside, big shells for the great siege guns, even German underwear washed and hung up to dry.

But what interested me was a heap of empty German shells from 75-millimeter guns. I asked the captain why they took such care of those empty shells that would not fit French guns. He replied that the brass was very valuable and would be taken to the foundries and recast for the 75-millimeter gun of the French army. In some cases the French got the dead horses of the Germans, skinned them and ground the meat up for chicken food.

Already Claimed. It is now proposed to give King Albert of Belgium the title of King of Jerusalem. But it will have to be taken away from the Emperor of Austria-Hungary first, and that old man is not inclined to let go.

See the Real Girl. Safety first also means that a young man should get around to the girl's house about breakfast time and get a good look at her when her hair and her complexion and her hips are upstairs on her bedroom dresser.
